* He had reached with Strickland-cum in 1905 * Coleman the 1st Europ has been in their attempt to Mt. Aspiring * on the Barrs. *

* beyond, beginning at the Barrs glacier, were the Matukituki Saddle leading to the Dart ~~this~~ Hunter *

OLIVINE

One thing we clean our camping plan was not a good start for the other peak.

as I said before, this it was quite obvious that we were on top of the peak called Mount Aspiring, we could not see it with the mist we had with us. Right-ahead was Mt. Aspiring rising out of the Barrs Glacier on our right * the Therma at the head of the Waiotipu. Coleman pointed out * Aspiring * where we were the place * ~~they had reached~~. Between * and * after a second pause the ridge it dropped down the saddle at the head of the Waiporoa We were unable to see down into the upper Waiotipu as the mist I was standing on blocked our views, ~~but~~ ~~we~~ a gap in which we could see Mt. Earnslaw & Mt. Tutoko * Skeig to behind us was the glorious range of the Red Hills, plain to the distance the sea * the river bed ~~leading~~ leading to it Then there came the view of the Alpine range above the Cook branch * in the distance the giants of the Mount-Cook District while nearer by were the very attractive looking peaks Mount Aspiring * Skeig gazer between the Barrs of the Waiotipu * which ~~has~~ since been climbed We stayed some hours on the top * then returned to camp at 5-30. * * Next morning, after a night's rest we ~~visited~~ visited Keas, returned to camp * after some food ~~Separated~~ Different-way to find a place where we could wash ourselves * our clothes. Now to wash clothes in a river one needs to be in a position relative to the water where the river comes down steep from mountain or cascade
