

These two rock ledges are the ridge that lead on to Pig's Head there is then a short descent & up the rocky S. ridge of Pig's Head we got to the top at 7.5 & stopped for food till 7.40 & then went up the ridge where necessary on the W. side & got to the top at 8.5. Again a most glorious view & Pig's Head is very well situated for view. We left at 8.25 & got back to the lead-at 10.30. We had food & slept at 11.50. About 200 yards below the lead we had a camp & observed my camp 30 yards off.
 We got to the Gulf-Summit at 1.25 & had a drink of tea from the stream & left at 1.45 & got to Spina at 3.
 We had tea & I had a shower & camped at 5.12 to Berg in Aug 30. We had a check day, & in the evening arranged with a friend to come up to the Alla Andon in the night. There was no church at all, the village church being rejected.

Aug 31. We got off at 6.30, the track soon becomes very all the way. I sleep, but in all these trees till after we are below the "Schepkulle". Just beyond that we halted for steam & had food 9.10-10.15. About 2.70 one bus to camp but to go to the right. From the front at a good path lead to the Alla Andon which we reached at 11.30. There were 4 men there & a party of 6 who went off after lunch. We set camp in the tea room.
 Later on a Swede from Davos his wife & another girl with a guide whom he recognized as the "Penny" we had seen fall pulled into a crevasse in 18.15 arrived from the Alla & later two men who had a pair of shoes on the other party & were often told of it.

Sept 1. We got off at 5. From the Post-Rohnd a ridge runs up to the Jungfrau E. ridge & up this a track goes but it is a very loose track & at 7.50 we hit the rocks we reached.
 We started off & went up some grass & then round some grass ridge up to this track, I could see to some down all sorts of ways & we went up rather to straight following

Jungfrau

5. Some of my legs. at 7.40 we were just below the ridge & halted for food till 8.15. We followed the ridge till we came to the face (VI) of the Jungfrau. A crevasse gully lead up this face. I had a small crevasse & gully place, a little like the crevasse that the start of Shearhall's climbing on Babel. An Antelope was in a good place for the descent. We got to the top at 10. The view was very fine. We left at 10.40 & at 12.10 were below the climbing & took off the rope. We came down another climbing, a little easier, but the start was so crumpled in some places & I had to protect myself when I started to move.
 We went down & only leaving the ridge before the place we had reached it on the ascent & went down the gully path.
 We got to the lead at 2. After food I slept from 4-6.30.
 One guide H.S. Christ arrived with me for food.

Sept 2. We got off at 3.50. The guide got a good rest till the screen & we got to the top close under Alla at 6. At 6.15-

Pig's Head
 Alla
 We started up climbing rather back in N.E. following Caeris. We halted for food 7.10-7.30. From the track we came up on to the ridge looking down into the gully between the two peaks. We went up this & worked up & down & got to the top at 8.15. Percy had come up to the top & we watched him following. When he got to the gully he climbed up to the top but followed the ridge up to the lower peak & descended into the crevasse between the two peaks & so to the higher peak. We left at 8.45 & went back to the little col between the two peaks & then worked to the E. ridge of the Alla & descended part of snow & part of rocks.
 After we had descended to the head of the big crevasse we are left. I noticed a path below on my right. But the guide told me to go to the left as I was obviously & present of it. I found in me that he was going to take us down of the old rock under the crevasse. As we got down the crevasse there was a good deal of water in the rocks & he generally insisted on my climbing down
