WINNING COLLECTION OF BOOK- RHYMES

Submitted by Mrs Gill
This treasured store of joy I send
And now, to you my book I lend,
And when in time you read "The End,"
Return my book, remain my friend.

This book enjoy—
Do not annoy
By keeping it when read—
Finish the tale
Then do not fail
To heed what has been said.

* * * *

In friendship's name I lend my book,
Then I would have you know—
However much you love my book
From you it now must go.

Return to:

My name is written here below
If you will have a look;
It is a sin to steal a pin,
But how much more a book!

Name:

* * * *

My book's my friend
And you're my friend—
And I would keep it so—
If my book's lost
I count the cost—
My book and friend must go!

Books are borrowed, lent and stolen,
Let this not a stolen be—
When you see the name here written,
Please be kind—return to me.

Name:

To you I lend my book, but I would not care to say to my book—Adieu.
