gured a motor service across the Hill to Christchurch on certain days in the week, and about 1927 Messrs. Harris & Radcliffe took over the business, ^{and} three years ago decided to make the double trip to Christchurch every day. Visitors to the Bay, and also the residents, are well catered for now. The civility and good nature of the drivers are beyond praise. We mention especially Mr. Tom Radcliffe, as he is the one most often on the road.

Some of the proprietors of the Coach were;

Mr. Teape
 Mr. Harris
 Mr. Small (who tried the motor trip to Lyttelton)
 Mr. Whitford
 Messrs. Conway and Webster (partners)
 Mr. Jones, who started trips to Christchurch while continuing a regular service to Lyttelton.

Chiefly owing to improved methods of transit, a number of holiday cottages have been built lately. The pioneers in this respect were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Merton who built their cottage in the old horse-coach days, in one of the most beautiful sites of the Bay, looking right down the Harbour. Mr. and Mrs. Merton spent all their holidays at the Bay, and took the greatest interest in all that concerned the place. Mr. Merton, who was organist and music master at Christ's College, was always ready to help at Services at the Bay, and his help was much appreciated.
