built the house now owned by Mr. Gellety, their son-in-law, and the Post Office was moved there. A splendid Nikau palm and many fine shrubs are in that garden, and are reminders of the love that Mr. and Mrs. Gray had for their garden.

Mr. Sam. Hall built a stone house on the Lyttelton Road, near the junction of Dyer's Pass Road, which is still standing.

Mrs. Small Senr. tells an amusing story of being sent to buy a sugar-bag of bread from Mrs. Gray, and on the way back to Mrs. Hodgson, with whom she lived, a friend persuaded her to go in for a cup of tea, and the bag of bread was left under a tree. The visit was enjoyable, and lenthened out till it was dark. On going for the bag of bread, it was found that the pigs and turkeys had eaten the whole of the week's supply! No doubt it was a sadder and a wiser girl who arrived home with the empty bag!

Mr. Archibald Small was a well known pioneer, who passed away recently. His daughter, Mrs. Gray still lives in the Bay.
