

4

Jas Brown Tho. Wilson, Andrew & Daniel
Buckley, M<sup>r</sup>. M<sup>c</sup> Culloch, M<sup>c</sup> Kha, W. White, W. Belton John Donald - Henry Hight, Andrew Kirkland, - Gabling.
George & Henry Frampton, Henry Aldridge, Tom Banks, Jas. Burns, Anthony Gay, David Butteneck
W<sup>m</sup>. Rapley, W<sup>m</sup>. Walker - M<sup>c</sup> Kay - M<sup>c</sup>. Cleod, W<sup>m</sup>. M<sup>c</sup> Laeklan
G. Kidd J. Small. Jas Corbett, R. Russell, Samuel Hayes, - Bennison
W<sup>m</sup>. Gallagher - Oakley - Robt. Graham, David Scott, G. Holland, Geo. Stephens, Geo. Stephens (2) - McKealy.
Chas. Lewis, Chas Taylor, J. Cole, - Johnston, - Pollo.
Hughes. These were mostly all the earliest that held property. Some of the families of some of these after wards had farms, amongst whom were W<sup>m</sup>. & Jas. Mason Peter Stewart. Others were John & Geo. Stirling, Robert & Arthur Stewart, Arthur Taylor, Jas Petrie, Jas
M<sup>c</sup>. Causland, Jos Choak, Geo Matthews, Robt Finlay Bill Dewar, W. Farquhar, W<sup>m</sup>. Foster, L. Camplin John Fleming, Geo. Kidd, & Robt. M<sup>r</sup>. Grainger, W<sup>m</sup>.
Dyson, R. Clayton W. Lovell, Oliver, John Baldwin.
W<sup>m</sup>. Crossin, W<sup>m</sup>. Crossman, M<sup>r</sup>. Scarp. I did not know her husband, she was a widow & had four daughters.
Peter Stewart, D. Butteneck, Henry Frampton, Bishop, and both the Buckleys, also Oakley - took up land about Kakanui & Roshburton.
There was also two others. Jas Cray & W<sup>m</sup>. Croy.
These settled later somewhere towards Ashburton.
W<sup>m</sup>. Foster to Pakaitua, & L. Camplin to Felding.
J. Small also to Ashburton

5

In that earliest period the boundaries of the district were not so clearly defined, and in general they were marked by the incidence of the distribution of the population. Brookside itself had its northern <sup>& northern</sup> boundary along the River Selwyn whilst its southern was denoted by what was later called the Kilinchy Swamp. Kilinchy school was erected and given that name, the district in general composed a good deal of semi swamp & extending southwards and comprising some very good and also some much lighter land. A good deal of this swamp in some earlier period of the world's history had been heavily timbered, but there was no living <sup>nature</sup> trees when settlement took place. There was a heavy growth of Manuka or titee. But the buried timber was mostly Kaka Kahikatea (white pine) Matai (black pine) and Totara. There was also the ~~scattered~~ trunks of what had been Manuka trees, of a kind altogether different <sup>from</sup> to the standing scrub. The timber, of was very straight grained, but exceedingly tough and later used for wheelwright purposes.
To get back to the surroundings on the <sup>North</sup> east were the district of Jewell, called after the name of the stream on which ran through the district, the same brook which constituted part of the name of Brookside, but generally went by the name of Nashburn's creek but now known as Jewell

(Shute Why)