

the numbers and particulars, and to cut the notes or drafts in halves, and to send them by different posts.

Re-direction.

Letters, newspapers, and packets will be re-directed from one Post-Office to another on the written instructions of the person addressed; but, on re-direction, are chargeable with a new and distinct rate of postage, to be paid on delivery.

Penalties.

Any person sending as exempt from postage letters not liable to exemption, or enclosing a communication in the nature of a letter in any newspaper or book-packet, is liable to a penalty of £20.

Size and Weight.

No book-packet, or packet of newspapers will be received, nor will any post-master be required to receive any letter if it exceed two feet in length, one foot in width or depth, or three pounds in weight.

Book-packets to be Open for Inspection.

Every book-packet shall be sent open at the ends or sides, and there shall be no enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection sent in or with such packet, nor anything printed or written in the nature of a Letter.

Contents.

With the above limitations, a book-packet may contain any number of separate books, maps, prints, or photographs, and any quantity of paper, vellum, or parchment, either printed, written on, or plain (exclusive of anything in the parchment attached or belonging to such book, print, map, or photograph, and all things legitimately appertaining to or necessary for the transmission of any enclosed literary or artistic matter, but exclusive of glass in any form. The name and address of the sender may appear on the cover.

Overland Carriage.

No postmaster will be required to receive any book-packet for transmission by an Overland Mail if from its weight or any other cause the packet appears calculated to retard the carrier.
