MARLON WILLIAMS

At just 23, Williams has been nominated for 2 NZ Music Awards and 3 APRA music awards, recently winning the 2013 NZ Country Album of the Year and APRA Country Song of the Year.

SILENCIO

Silencio was founded in 2004; they are a contemporary music ensemble made up of jazz and classical musicians. Their members, ever changing, are always on the lookout for new and unconventional instruments. Tom Phillpotts, the ensemble's electronics musician, recently played a number of concerts with a laundry tub and an old cello bow.

Silencio are musical pioneers, constantly discovering new sounds beyond the constraints of traditional instruments.

NOMAD - AKA AASHA, WILL & CULLEN

This alt-folk band from Shirley Boys' High School is made up of Aasha Mallard (banjo), Will McGillivray (acoustic guitar and kick drum) and Cullen Kiesanowski (double bass). After only a year of playing together, they were named finalists of the 2013 Smokefreerockquest. The sky is definitely the limit for these guys.

HEADLINE ACTS

THE EASTERN

The Eastern are a string band that roars like a punk band, that swings like a gospel band, that drinks like a country band, that works like a bar band, that hopes like folk singers, sings love songs like union songs, writes union songs like love songs and wants to slow dance and stand on tables all at the same time.

LINDON PUFFIN

Part folk singer, part comedian, Lindon describes himself as a fisherman trapped in a musician's body.

Someone else described him as the love child of Bruce Springsteen and Chris Knox! He's a gifted whistler, pretty decent harmonica player, anarchic story teller and a gutsy songwriter with a voice as big as his heart.
